Is the Nonprofit Social Safety Net Prepared for Climate Change?

When the climate crisis is our most pressing global issue, this timely research has theory-building and extensive sector impact at its heart. This well-crafted and crucial research project will help us understand how prepared vital nonprofit services are for the impact climate change will have on their work, and how nonprofit leadership grapples with environmental risks and threats.

The committee was comprised of the following members:

- Jon Dean, Chair, Sheffield Hallam University
- Lili Wang, Arizona State University
- Kim Wiley, University of Florida
- Curtis Child, Brigham Young University
- Amy Sanders, Aberystwyth University
